

Kevin T. Curtiss

Mr. Curtiss is a senior vice president and account manager in the Newport Beach office, for the investment due diligence team within PIMCO's global wealth management group. He serves as liaison between financial intermediaries and PIMCO's portfolio management team, providing financial professionals and their clients with frequent updates on overall market performance, economic trends and PIMCO's outlook. He has eight years of investment experience and holds an MBA from the Marshall School of Business at the University of Southern California and a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of New Hampshire.