TRAIN THE TRAINER WORKSHOP

CONTINUING EDUCATION INFORMATION

Sometimes, sadness, fear, illness and loss enter a child's life. Using children's literature as a springboard for conversations will give kids the chance to express their feelings, tell their own stories, and deal with difficult issues. bobby's books, a program affiliated with Midwest Care Alliance, offers educational seminars, bibliographies, hands-on activities, lesson plans and other resources to educate adults and enhance a child's coping abilities. This session will prepare participants to present this entire model program including "Don't Flush the Goldfish," in their own communities and organizations. It is Midwest Care Alliance's intention to invite trainers to consider being "ambassadors" for this project in their regions as requests for bobby's books education arise. Participants will receive all the resources they will need to ensure success in promoting and implementing this program.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- 1. Describe common characteristics/hallmarks of children's grief and mourning.
- 2. Identify children's literature relating to coping mechanisms of change, loss and grief.
- 3. Describe use of hands on activities/lesson plans relating to identified children's literature.
- 4. Discuss benefits & models of implementation of bobby's books.

The planning committee and presenter have declared no conflict of interest. The presenter has agreed to present information fairly and without bias.

No commercial support was received for this educational event.
