WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU AT THE SYMPOSIUM

The Ohio Osteopathic Symposium, a collaborative program of the Ohio Osteopathic Association and the Ohio University Heritage College of Osteopathic Medicine Society of Alumni and Friends, will be held at the Hilton Columbus at Easton from April 25-29, 2018. This year's symposium promises to provide practical and clinically relevant information. The program offers an excellent agenda packed with engaging, informative and stimulating medical education sessions - presented by experts in their areas of study and practice. The overall objective is to deliver a well-constructed CME program that offers you innovative and timely information and insight that you will immediately put to use in your practice.

This symposium also provides a great opportunity to meet colleagues from around the state and region and reconnect with your peers.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Andrew Morris-Singer, MD
Friday, April 27, 2018
11:30 am - 12:30 pm

Andrew Morris-Singer, MD, is president and founder of Primary Care Progress (PCP), a clinician, a medical educator and primary care advocate.

He founded PCP in 2010 and it has quickly developed into an inter-professional, trainee-led, grassroots movement to reform primary care delivery and training. The organization has provided advocacy training and coaching to leaders across the country and has campaigned widely for greater awareness of the value of primary care.

Social movements offer important lessons and powerful strategies for advancing meaningful change in healthcare. From the historical roots of community organizing to the practical realities of making change in challenging clinical environments, Dr. Andrew Morris-Singer brings nearly 20 years of experience and insight into this thought-provoking session. Learn how to establish coalition, mobilize resources, and advance shared aims -- revitalizing yourself and your teams in the process.

He is a frequent blogger, has been featured in mainstream media outlets including NPR, CNN and The New York Times, and speaks regularly at academic medical institutions and professional conferences across the country.
