Fire & Smoke Damage

When one of your buildings has fire or smoke damage, you need a team with very specific restoration expertise to get the job done right.

Your occupants have been through one of the scariest experiences of their lives and you're faced with a high-stress situation on every front. Mammoth has the expertise to get things under control and the compassion to help you and your occupants through a tough spot.

By bringing together mitigation, fire/smoke restoration and construction services under one roof, you'll work with one full-service firm that has complete control and accountability from start to finish. More importantly, our crews bring a combination of caring and expertise that's unmatched in the industry. Just what you need to speed the process, guarantee quality work and ensure your occupants are treated right.

“ I can't overstate how valuable it is to have a partner with the required skills and equipment that shows up to work with you when you call in the middle of the night. It changes the outcome.
