THE PLAN ROOM POST

From Plan Room Manager, John Grandetti

John Grandetti, Plan Room Manager

Planroom Post

Teambuilding Night Congratulations: On behalf of all of our staff, we would like to extend congratulations to all the companies and individuals who are being recognized for their outstanding work in the industry. There were many projects to choose from in the past year, and the recognition of your peers is a testament to your skill and dedication to the industry.

Although this year's awards have already been given, now is a great time to start thinking about upcoming projects that might be worthy of acknowledgment for next year.

Some 2013 Stats: We ended 2013 with 315 members! In 2013, the members made 7,224 prints in the planroom. We reported on close to 2500 projects in the Dayton area.

Although 2013 was not a never ending parade of great news, we have a lot to be happy about as an Association. On behalf of our entire Association staff we want to extend a thank you to our members for your continued patronage.

Education in 2014 If you are looking to brush up on the online service, seminars will be held in the planroom on Tuesday January 28th at 2:30; Tuesday January 28th at 2:30; February 14th at 10:30 AM (in conjunction with Free Food Friday); and Wednesday February 26th at 3:00 PM. Make the most of your membership by learning all you can about our feature-rich website. Check your email for the upcoming Financial Managers Meeting, HR Managers Meeting, and our various OSHA and Drug Free Workplace training programs.

Fun in 2014: As some of you may know, we also like to have some fun around the Builders Exchange offices. 2014 will be no different. In the past we have had a Tour de Donut, golf outings, bowling parties and shooting events. We are always looking to provide a little out-of-the-box networking and fellowship.

We have 4 Free Food Fridays on the calendar already. The first will be on Friday, February 14th from 11 AM to 1 PM. Our Sweetheart's Lunch! So come on by, check out the planroom and mingle with our board and staff. Check for updates in the next week or so!

Details for the Gearhead: Tha Heist

ENGINE: The engine is a unique design by one of the world's largest engine manufacturers, LIFAN. The company was originated by Honda as a supplier of engines and engine parts, building many complete series under license.

The 250cc engine in the HEIST is not an "off the shelf" model. Based on the "CG" series layout this version is counter balanced, and it has redesigned intake and exhaust tracts specifically engineered to easily meet strict EPA / CARB and EEC standards. The counter balanced internals are accompanied by a performance enhancing cam curve and closely machined tolerances.

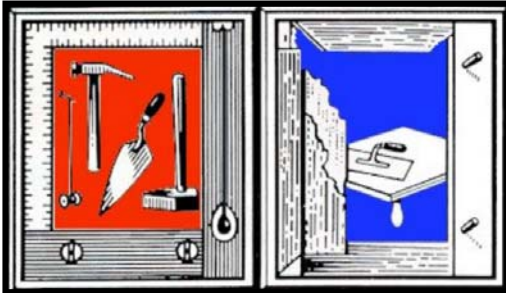

The criteria of simplicity, weight, longevity, reliability, owner oriented maintenance, and cost called for a conventional overhead valve configuration and actuation. The ignition is the reliable and proven CDI.

Efficient and clean burning, 100 MPG is achievable. When ridden moderately, 65 MPG is a good baseline to expect.

Workers' Compensation Claims

Strategies for Optimal Outcomes

By utilizing workers' compensation best practices employers can achieve a higher level of control over their workplace injuries, which can result in reduced severity and claim costs and better outcomes.

Early Reporting & Transitional Work

Early claim reporting is a crucial first step in controlling costs. Numerous national studies have shown the longer it takes for a claim to be reported, the costlier the claim. That's why it's important to work with an Ohio Managed Care Organization (MCO) that has efficient options for reporting new workers' compensation claims. These can include fax, telephone, online or email reporting.

A second key step is developing a plan to bring injured workers back to work by offering transitional duties. A Transitional Work Program enables injured employees to perform valuable work during their recovery as opposed to staying home from work.

There are four benefits to an effective Transitional Work Program.

1. Employees remain active and productive during their recovery, helping prevent loss of physical fitness and muscle tone due to inactivity.
2. Employees can earn full or partial wages during the transitional period, bringing income closer to pre-injury wages and helping alleviate concerns about continued employment.
3. Getting employees back to their day-to-day routine helps them experience less disruption to their life and provides contact and support from co-workers and friends.

Having an experienced staff member back in the workforce can help employers avoid expenses associated with hiring and training new employees.

These advantages are in defense of the widely accepted philosophy that the longer an injured worker is off work, the harder it is for them to return.

Injured Worker Recovery

Should I let injured employees stay home to recover? Today, the strategy of having employees only work when fully recovered can be considered a non-progressive approach. National studies report that work is generally good for health and well-being. While employers often focus primarily on physical recovery, the time an injured employee spends away from their career and peers can be just as traumatic as the injury itself.

Often times an injured employee may be limited in what tasks they can perform when they first return to their job based on work restrictions prescribed by their healthcare provider. Yet, today's occupational health providers are more receptive to working with employers and focusing on an injured employee's abilities as opposed to their disabilities. They share the same goal of returning an injured employee to productivity as soon as medically possible because of the positive impact work can have on achieving a healthy long-term recovery.

Don't Have Time/Budget for Early Return to Work?

The truth is many employers don't have the time or the budget to afford even just one lost time claim. Transitional and alternative duty programs are designed to give employers the tools they need to eliminate the occurrence of costly lost time claims.

Implementing early reporting procedures and a transitional duty process will more times than not result in injured employees returning to healthy, productive lifestyles quickly and safely. The optimum outcomes are improved employee morale, a healthier workforce and a financially stronger organization.

Mechanical Contractors Association Holds Holiday Party At Historic Staley's Distillery

On December 11th the Mechanical Contractors Association of Greater Dayton (MCAGD) held its Annual Membership Holiday Party at the Historic Staley Mill Distillery, located just outside of New Carlisle.

The owners of Staley's provided a tour of the Double Copper Pot Distillery where they make their rye whiskey using the same recipe and methods used by their five times Great Grandfather. The history of the property was very interesting and included many photographs of the original distillery and mill.

Included with the great lunch, was a tasting of these famous rye whiskeys. In addition, everyone got to take a bottle home to try complete with a newsletter of tasty drink recipe ideas.

At the meeting, MCAGD Chairman Howard Krisher thanked the Association Board Members and Committee Members for all of their hard work and volunteered time to the industry over this past year.

Howard also reminded the membership to not forget to support the United Way.

2014 Summer YouthWorks

Montgomery County Workforce Division

In 2013, 1,245 Montgomery County youth were placed at 275 work sites in various industries. The youths' wages are provided through State and County funds, which is a tremendous benefit to the participating businesses. This collaboration provides the work experience and guidance needed to create a strong and informed future workforce.

In 2014, Youth Works will provide employment opportunities for an additional 1,000 young people that will help shape their future and create a generation of career informed youth.

In order to provide the most benefit to the youth, we are looking for an additional 300 employers willing to participate as worksites.

Montgomery County will:

- Approve applications
- Contribute the salary for the youth
- Issue Workers Compensation insurance
- Provide Job Readiness Training
- Perform case management services for all youth

Participating businesses will:

- Identify positions, required skills, and attire for participating youth
- Employ youth between the ages of 14-17 for 8 weeks during the summer of 2014
- Agree to deliver a valuable work experience and knowledge of your industry by training, mentoring, and evaluating the youth

To participate in 2014, contact
 Rocky Rockhold at 937-225-4077 or

Montgomery County Explains Summer YouthWorks Program

On December 13th in the Builders Exchange Education Room, Montgomery County Officials explained to Construction Industry Leaders their Youth Employment Program. Vince Corrado coordinated this meeting between the County and the Industry.

Those in attendance represented the Associated General Contractors; the Dayton Builders Exchange; the Subcontractors Association of Western Ohio, the Sheet Metal & Roofing Contractors Association; the Mechanical Contractors Association of Greater Dayton; and the Mason Contractors of Dayton.

This program is funded by Montgomery County and provides placement of High School students in summer jobs. These students can work for Employers up to 16 hours per week throughout the summer and the Student's wages are paid by the County.

Montgomery County sets standards for students to qualify for the program and then makes the selection of qualified students. The County also provides follow-up assistance for both the student and the employer to insure that the working experience is good for both.

County Youth Activities Supervisory Rocky Rockhold explained that the County had 3000 qualified students ready to go to work last year, and they were only able to place less than half that many. Rockhold said the hope this summer is to align Employers and Students so that all qualified students are referred out.

The focus of the program is to give these Students employment opportunities that will show them what types of jobs are available so that they can better define their career goals.

Montgomery County Commissioner Dan Foley was on hand and spoke about the successes of the program and the strong support of the County Commissioners.

County Administrator Joe Tuss also echoed the complete support of the County to assist Employers that participate and provide jobs to youth.

The program can be summarized as follows:

Montgomery County will:

- >> Approve applications
- >> Contribute the salary for the youth
- >> Issue Workers Compensation insurance
- >> Provide Job Readiness Training
- >> Perform case management services for all youth

Participating Businesses will:

- >> Identify positions, required skills, and attire for participating youth
- >> Employ youth between the ages of 14-17 for 8 weeks during the summer of 2014
- >> Agree to deliver a valuable work experience and knowledge of your industry by training, mentoring, and evaluating the youth

Thanks to Vince Corrado for bringing this program to the industry's attention.

Informational bulletins will be provided in the Builders Exchange monthly Journal.

Interested Employers can also contact Rocky Rockhold; Telephone (937) 225-4077 rockhr@odjfs.state.oh.us .
