

Stay Alert, Stay Alive

Work zone safety starts with awareness—linemen must stay constantly alert to their surroundings, including moving traffic, heavy equipment, and changing site conditions. Never assume drivers see you, even with signage and barriers in place. Always wear high-visibility PPE, position yourself in safe zones whenever possible, and maintain clear communication with your crew. A moment of distraction can lead to serious injury, so staying focused and situationally aware is your first line of defense.
