

The Ohio State University and the Cleveland FBI present
2014 Workshop on Agricultural Terrorism:
Threats, Impacts and Challenges

September 24–25, 2014

Shisler Conference Center
Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center
Wooster, Ohio

Organized by:
The Ohio State University Department of Public Safety Wooster Campus
The Cleveland FBI WMD Program

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL,
AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

The Ohio State University and the Cleveland FBI present 2014 Workshop on Agricultural Terrorism: Threats, Impacts and Challenges

The 2014 workshop will take place on September 24–25, 2014, at the Shisler Conference Center at OARDC in Wooster, OH. The workshop is a joint collaboration between The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences and the FBI Weapons of Mass Destruction Directorate. Day one will feature speakers that join the workshop to share their knowledge on topics such as challenges in diagnosis and detection of agroterrorism agents, economic impacts of agroterrorism, state and local response plans, security challenges, and challenges of dual use research. Day two will include a panel discussion featuring the speakers as well as site visits to agricultural centers of interest in the area, including the PAAR BSL-3 Agricultural Facility.

Highlights of 2014 Workshop

- Featured speakers
- Topics of Interest for producers, food processors, members of academia, law enforcement, regulators, emergency management, public health
- Site visits
- Registration for the event is FREE. Event meals are available for purchase at time of pre-registration through the Shisler Center
- Day one evening social event to meet fellow workshop attendees and discuss topics of interest

Location of the Shisler Conference Center

The Shisler Conference Center is located at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, 1680 Madison Avenue, Wooster, OH 44691. For driving directions, please check the following website: www.shislercenter.ohio-state.edu/

Registration/Questions

For event registration, local hotel accommodations, or for any questions please contact Hannah Roscoe, Operations and Sales Manager, Shisler Center, at the following:

Hannah Roscoe
Phone: 330-263-5501
Roscoe.20@osu.edu

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL,
AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

