1st Annual
Advanced Practice Provider Pediatric Neurosurgery Conference

April 10-11, 2014

Albert B. Sabin Education Center

Cincinnati Children's®

Hospital Medical Center

Conference Description

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center takes pride in its Neurology and Neurosurgery program for the quality and innovative patient care as well as its excellent patient outcomes. In fact, the program has been ranked by U.S. News and World Report to be the number four program in the country. The department would like to share its best practices by sponsoring the 1st Annual Advanced Practice Provider Pediatric Neurosurgery Conference. The current state of pediatric neurosurgery will be presented by faculty and advanced practice providers of the organization.

Learning Objectives

- Discuss current surgical interventions for a wide range of neurological disorders.
- Discuss current research and its role in generating innovations and in improving outcomes for the patient with a neurosurgical disorder.
- Describe the role of the Advanced Practice Provider in the perioperative management of patients with neurosurgical disorders.
- Perform shunt taps, suturing and device programmng through simulation.

Teaching Methods

Course content will be presented through presentations, case studies, panel discussions and simulations requiring the learner to take an active role in knowledge acquisition.

Target Audience

This conference is intended for Advanced Practice Registered Nurses and Physician Assistants caring for patients with neurosurgical disorders. Physicians and nurses who are part of the healthcare team involved in the management of these patients would benefit from the program, also.

Keynote Speaker

Francesco T. Mangano, DO, FACS, FACOS

Director, Division of Pediatric Neurosurgery
Co-Director, Epilepsy Surgery Program
Associate Professor, University of Cincinnati Department of Surgery

Francesco Mangano, DO joined the Division of Pediatric Neurosurgery at Cincinnati Children's in July, 2005, being appointed as the Director of the division in 2013. Dr. Mangano is board certified in neurological surgery through the American Osteopathic Board of Surgery. He earned his doctor in osteopathic medicine from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine and participated in a residency program at NYCOM-Long Island and Jewish Medical Center/North Shore University Health System in New Hyde Park, New York. Dr. Mangano went on to complete a pediatric neurosurgery fellowship at Washington University School of Medicine – St. Louis Children's Hospital in St. Louis, Missouri. Dr. Mangano's major focus of interest is in reducing the frequency of debilitating seizures through surgical intervention. He is also a co-principal investigator for an NIH-funded multi-institutional study evaluating advanced MRI imaging techniques in children with congenital hydrocephalus. He has written and spoken extensively both nationally and internationally on epilepsy, diffuse tensor imaging, traumatic brain injury, and vascular and neoplastic brain lesions.
